DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on March 6, 2008, has been entered.

Response to Amendment

2. Claims 1-5 and 7-23 remain pending.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed March 6, 2008, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

A. As stated previously, it is the Examiner's position that cross-linking is a species of the genus of curing. In other words, curing of a resinous binder may take place by cross-linking, but it may also take place by other means. It is the Examiner's position that, in the art, cross-linking implies the formation of covalent bonds between adjacent polymer chains (i.e., linking across the chains). Resins may also be cured by other means such as the formation of, for example, urethane linkages between monomers or oligomers that do not, specifically, link adjacent polymer chains. As such, "cross-linking" and "curing" are not strictly synonymous and interchangeable.

Art Unit: 1792

B. In the Baumgart reference, it is the Examiner's position that all cross-linking involved in the curing process is activated by actinic radiation. See 8:20 ff. where it is stated that the cross-linking component (B) must have reactive functional groups containing at least one bond which can be activated with actinic radiation. That other processes (i.e., thermal) occur as part of overall curing is irrelevant as the claims require only cross-linking by actinic radiation.

C. With respect to the newly added limitation: "...wherein at least a portion of the solvents evaporates at a temperature of between 40°C and 60°C," this limitation is either taught or rendered obvious by Baumgart. The solvent naphtha, recited in col. 22, evaporates within the claimed range. Further, it is known in the art to utilize solvents meeting this criteria and one skilled in the art would have seen these as obvious expedients for the "conventional...organic solvents" of col. 19.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-5 and 7-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Baumgart et al. (WO 03/000812 A1; reference made to US 7,064,165 B2 as English-language equivalent).

A. These claims are rejected for the same reasons as set forth under this heading in the prior Office action.

B. These claims remain obvious as amended for the reasons set forth above.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 23 is allowed.

8. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The reasons remain the same as set forth under this heading in the prior Office action.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

9. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

10. The prompt development of clear issues in the prosecution history requires that applicant's reply to this Office action be fully responsive (MPEP § 714.02). When filing an amendment, applicant should specifically point out the support for any amendment made to the disclosure, including new or amended claims (MPEP §§ 714.02 & 2163). A fully responsive reply to this Office action, if it includes new or amended claims, must therefore include an explicit citation (i.e., page number and line number) of that/those portion(s) of the original disclosure which applicant contends support(s) the new or amended limitation(s).
